Community Shelter Board

UNTIL EVERYONE HAS A PLACE TO CALL HOME

Sweet Home

Until everyone has a place to call home
Community Shelter Board leads a coordinated, community effort to make sure everyone has a place to call home. We bring together 16 agencies across the community to work together as a cohesive system for change, driving:

STRATEGY: to prioritize and position innovative solutions in alignment with federal, state, and local agencies

ACCOUNTABILITY: through data and compliance monitoring for all public funding from federal, state, and local levels, as well as private sector funding

COLLABORATION: within the homeless system, between other systems of care, and across the community

RESOURCES: from federal, state, and local levels in both the public and private sectors

We maximize effective and efficient use of resources to achieve the best possible outcomes for people facing homelessness in Columbus and Franklin County. With the support of a compassionate community, our system of care served more than 12,000 people last year with homelessness prevention, shelter, street outreach, rapid re-housing, and permanent supportive housing.
Rapid Resolution
More than 300 families on the brink of homelessness who called the homeless hotline were helped to rapidly resolve their crisis and did not become homeless.

Prevention
More than 500 households facing homelessness were served by prevention programs. 86% did not become homeless and remained stably housed.

Street Outreach
Nearly 200 people who were homeless on the street were rapidly re-housed, bypassing shelter, and going directly from the streets to safe housing.

Shelter
More than 1,000 families and 5,000 single men and women were kept safe in emergency shelter.

- 2,231 were children
- 357 were pregnant women
- 50 days: average length of time families were homeless (national average is 91 days)
- 7% fewer families needed shelter than last year

Rapid Re-Housing
More than 900 households in shelter were re-housed and stabilized.

Supportive Housing
More than 2,000 households with disabilities that experienced long-term homelessness were housed in specialized, supportive housing - saving costs for jails, emergency room visits, and inpatient hospital stays.
Skye is determined to learn the skills she needs to build a life for herself and her daughter.
Skye was raised by her grandmother. But when her grandmother was diagnosed with breast cancer, Skye bounced between her dad’s house and her mom’s house – neither of which felt like home, neither of which were safe environments.

At the age of 21, Skye and her partner were getting by on their own and expecting a baby when their house burnt down just a few days after Christmas. Without family support and nowhere to turn, they ended up living in their truck. At six months pregnant, Skye was afraid. She felt hopeless, and full of fear for her safety and the health of her baby.

Skye found help at Huckleberry House, a program in Community Shelter Board’s network of care. They are helping Skye with safe, decent housing, counseling, and parenting support. Skye is determined to learn the skills she needs to build a life for herself and her daughter. She dreams of working in a nursing home.

More than 3,000 young people were homeless last year. Like Skye, many of them have children of their own. When women like Skye experience homelessness during pregnancy, their babies are at 200% greater risk of premature birth – the leading cause of infant deaths.

With the right support, young people like Skye can have bright futures, and a place to call home.
PARTNERSHIP IN ACTION

Until all youth have a safe place to call home

Community Shelter Board has been awarded a grant from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development that will allow us to dramatically reduce homelessness among youth, age 24 and younger.

Relationship problems and unemployment are most frequently reported by youth as the cause of their homelessness.

More than 3,000 young people were homeless in Columbus last year.

Stakeholders from across the community are collaborating to design a comprehensive community plan to address youth homelessness – the most important stakeholder being young people who have firsthand experience of homelessness. We will work together until every young person in our community has a place to call home.
Because of you, we helped more than 12,000 people in Franklin County last year. That’s larger than the population of New Albany.

Because of you, 1,200 people facing homelessness tonight can count on the safety of a shelter. 8,800 people used our shelters last year.

Because of you, our prevention programs helped more than 2,500 households avoid homelessness over the last five years.

Because of you, more than 8,000 households in shelters were re-housed and stabilized over the last five years. And we housed more than 2,200 households with disabilities that experienced long-term homelessness in specialized, supportive housing - saving costs for jails, emergency room visits, and inpatient hospital stays.

Because of you, our community is stronger. And Community Shelter Board will be here until everyone has a place to call home.
Cathy & Jeff Lyttle

Central Ohio is our community. We’ve spent our entire professional lives here. Being active in our community is extremely important to us as individuals, as a couple, and as a family. Service as volunteers and nonprofit board members has enriched our lives. Our community work has kept us grounded, made us better people, and has helped us grow in our careers.

We were both raised in families that quietly expressed their humanity by giving back through whatever means possible. Our parents and grandparents were outstanding role models. We honor their hard work and generosity by trying to set an example of our own, by keeping that torch burning. Including Community Shelter Board in our financial planning is one way we can do that.”

Community Shelter Board is grateful for Cathy and Jeff, and for all the investors who support critical services for people facing homelessness. Cathy and Jeff take an extra step to invest in the future of our community by including Community Shelter Board in their estate planning. You, too, can help fulfill the vision that no one should be homeless in our community for even one night.

There are a number of planned giving vehicles you can use to benefit Community Shelter Board and your own estate planning goals, including bequests, retirement plans, life insurance plans, trust vehicles, and annuities. Wherever you are in your planning process, we would be honored to help you achieve your goals and create a lasting impact on our most vulnerable neighbors. Contact us at bboult@csb.org.
